File 3 Zone Suit Pleas in County Court

November 15 Set as Hearing Date for 'Chicken' Case

Seeking to bring speedier settlement of Albany's "Chicken Hatchery" zoning case, three attorneys who have filed separate suits and pleas in the Alameda County Superior Court this week agreed to present evidence in a combined form in order that the court may act on the case within the next two weeks.

Following preliminary session Tuesday morning, Superior Judge T. W. Harris set date of hearing as November 15, when City Attorney Joseph Y. Young, acting for the City of Albany, Carleton Rank, representing C. M. MacGregor, and C. N. Lavers, attorney for Gould and Kane, contractors, will present their combined evidence.

Meantime, however, Lavers announced that Gould and Kane have filed petition for an injunction asking that the defendants be ordered to refrain from completing the partly constructed building at 937 San Pablo Avenue, which C. M. MacGregor began several months ago for asserted use as a "hatchery." Hearing on the petition was also scheduled for November 15.

The petition by Lavers, it was said, is largely based on an 18-year-old "slaughter" issue said to be one of the reasons for the present zoning ordinance, and names Charles Valters, proposed owner of the "hatchery," and Emilia Valters, Charles M. MacGregor, building contractor, and Charlotte MacGregor Boggs as defendants.

In the complaint, the plaintiffs declared that the construction of the "hatchery" would bring an influx of "flies, rats, pests, irritable noises, dust and stench." Lavers, according to his petition, asks that the court prohibit any building in the district adjacent to property owned by Gould and Kane, intended for the following:

"1—Chicken or rabbit keeping or raising. 2—Operation of a hatchery as a wholesale business. 3—Operation of a hatchery incidental to chicken keeping or raising. 4—Stockyard or slaughtering of animals or fowls. 5—Poultry market or store where live and/or dead fowl is sold."

Safety Measures Told By Police Commissioner

Cites "Stop and Go Signals" as Greatest Recent Development in Field of Engineering; Highway Patrol Is Lauded

By VINCENT HANAHAN
Police Commissioner

Enforcement in Traffic Safety plays one of the three major roles, the other two being Engineering and Education, and the complete coordination of the three are necessary to accomplish the aim and purpose of the Traffic Safety Commissions.

I believe that the greatest improvement has been made in the field of Engineering. The development of our "stop and go signals", the construction of our modern highways and the mechanical improvements of the motor car have all shown marked progress.

Traffic Safety Education has been carried on through the medium of the press, radio, and printed literature, also by courses in our schools and talks before civic groups and organizations, all of which has been very effective in carrying out that phase of the program.

Enforcement as we look at it today is a vastly different picture than we had in the hey-day of the "Speed Cop" with their concealed "traps", done purposely as most motorists thought, to bring revenue to the city and in some communities to pay salaries which were based on the percentage of the number of "tickets" issued.

The improvement in the methods of enforcement from that era have been consistent with Engineering and Education. There has been established a State Highway Patrol whose members are selected and given a special course of training, which has resulted in the high type of officers that now patrol your state highways. Their manners, conduct, and courteous handling of violators has set a fine example and has been emulated by most of the officers in our cities.

Bureaus for the investigation of accidents have been established in many of the larger cities and have been a great factor in determining, not alone the causes of accidents, but those responsible for violations of State Vehicle Laws or local ordinances. Traffic Schools are another way of dealing with enforcement. With the cooperation of the Police Departments and the courts, violators in many cases are sent to "school" and we find in very few cases that the graduates commit further violations.

So let us conclude that any time you are stopped for a traffic violation, the officer is not alone doing his duty in the protection of life, limb and property, but is acting for your interest and welfare as well as that of the community.

Council Plans Rubbish Law

Cooperating with Albany Beautification Committee, the City Council Monday night requested City Attorney Joseph Y. Young to draft an ordinance prohibiting the promiscuous dropping of refuse and garbage in Albany vacant lots.

The measure was taken by the Council at the request of the Albany Beautification Committee who suggested that the present ordinance covering the matter, is inadequate.

At the request of Superintendent of Streets Harry I. Dygert, the Council approved an assessment of $174.37 for destruction of weeds throughout the city.

Presented before the Council was a recommendation from the Park Planning and Zoning Commission for the rezoning of lots 45 and 46, at Clay and Adams Streets. The petition was presented to the Council at the request of the owner of the property who plans to erect a duplex bungalow on the site. The City Clerk was ordered to send notices to the proposed construction to adjacent property owners.

Report of the California Peace Officers Convention in San Diego last week was made before the Council by Police Chief Lloyd Jester who related the proposed plans made during the convalesce for protecting visitors and merchants during the coming San Francisco Golden Gate Exposition.

Second 'Crime School' Oct. 20

Jester to Instruct Merchants at Session

An opportunity for citizens of Albany to learn what their Police Department is doing for them will be extended October 20 when the Albany Police Department will hold the second of a series of "crime schools" in the City Hall.

Open to the public, the school is the innovation of Chief of Police Lloyd Jester who has devised a program to educate Albany merchants and residents and protect them against the expected influx of petty criminals which will be drawn hereby the 1939 Golden Gate Exposition.

Conducted by Chief Jester, next Thursday's meeting will be based about an explanation of the functions and duties of the Albany Police Department as well as their steps in protecting citizens against crime.

The "crime school" was started several months ago here when a meeting was held at which an Oakland Police Inspector discussed methods used by bad-check artists, bunco men and other types of petty criminals, revealing means of detecting them at work and apprehending them. Since the first session, the school has aroused favorable comment from police departments and municipalities throughout the state with requests received here for information concerning the general set-up of the school.

Lissolo-Monos Rites Take Place in Reno

Miss Charlotte Monos became the bride of John Lissolo at a ceremony, which took place in Reno, Nev., on Saturday afternoon, October 1. Judge B. J. Cunler officiated and the attendants were Miss Bessie Ellsworth and T. T. Sandy.

The blonde bride wore an afternoon frock of teal blue taffeta with black accessories.

After a brief honeymoon, the newlyweds returned to Albany, where they plan to reside.

The bride is the daughter of Steve Monos of Masonic Avenue and has resided in this city for the past nine years. She received her diploma from the Albany High School and is a member of Bethel No. 87 of Job's Daughters.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Lissolo of the college city. He is a graduate of Berkeley High School and is at present employed by the City of Berkeley.

A mock wedding was the diversion of the evening shower given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Lissolo, who were recently united in marriage at Reno. The bride is the former Miss Charlotte Monos, daughter of Steven Monos of Masonic Avenue.

The affair took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. Diani of Masonic Avenue last Saturday evening. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Dobson and Mrs. Carmen Walters and Steve Monos acted as co-host.

At midnight a buffet supper was served in the dining room, which was beautifully decorated with white bells hanging from the chandeliers and large baskets of pink carnations.

Those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dobson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Walters, Sergeant and Mrs. W. H. Sanborn, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bain, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bodini, Mr. and Mrs. H. Alcantar, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wilde, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. G. Flint, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lindquist, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Tatton and daughter, Janey; Mrs. Palonie and children, Angie and Gene; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Greenwood, Mr. and Mrs. McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Regalia and daughters, Blanche and Frances; Mr. and Mrs. J. Drennon, Mr. and Mrs. C. Fleming, Mrs. J. W. Oliver, Mrs. Isabel Craven, Mrs. Sarah E. Cox, Miss Edith H. Canfield, and James, Donald and Frances Diani, children of the host and hostess.

After spending a short visit at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bernardo of Half Moon Bay, Mrs. Lillian Christensen returned to Albany last Tuesday evening.

She is the couple's second child, the first being a son, Thomas.

Miss Bennett Becomes Bride of R. Dawson

Standing before the flower banked altar of St. John's Church in El Cerrito, Miss Peggy Bennett was joined in wedlock to Richard Dawson, at a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 o'clock last evening. Rev. Browne read the wedding service.

The rites were preceded by a musical ceremony at which John O'Malley sang "Ave Maria" accompanied on the organ by C. Lenzen.

The bride's gown was an exquisite creation of hydrangea pink lace over taffeta, modeled with a high, ruffled Maria Antoinette collar, short puffed sleeves and a three-yard train. With it she wore a long net veil of the same shade and carried a shower bouquet of pale pink bouvardia and Cecil Brunner roses.

Her sister, Mrs. Louis Fouchet, was matron of honor. She wore a lace frock of shepherdess derivation in a French rose color trimmed with laven der horsehair and her muf was of lavender sweetpeas.

The maid of honor, Miss Gertrude Peacock, was similarly clad in a lace frock of old rose and her sweetpea muf was of a deep rose shade.

The groom's brother, Chris Dawson, acted as best man and the ushers were Louis Fouchet and Johnny O'Malley.

The rites were followed by a reception held at the Durant Hotel in Berkeley for members of the immediate families and close friends.

Among those in the receiving line was the groom's mother, who wore an ensemble of navy blue net over taffeta with matching accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Later the newlyweds left on a honeymoon to an undisclosed destination. Upon their return they will establish their home in Berkeley.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Bennett of Richmond. She is a graduate of the Presentation Convent in Berkeley and is well known locally as she and her sister have conducted the Bennett Sisters' Studio in Albany and Berkeley for the past five years.

The groom is the son of Mrs. J. Dawson of Neilson Street, where he has lived for the past 20 years. He was educated in the Berkeley schools and is now employed by the Key System.

"Vivacious Lady" Heads New Cerrito Theatre Program

When a young college professor marries a night club singer and brings her home to his father, who is the prey of the U, all tarnation breaks loose and the fun starts in "Vivacious Lady," heading the closing program at the Cerrito Theatre tonight. Adorable Ginger Rogers is the night club singer, and James Stewart is the young college professor.

The second feature, "Gangs of New York", with Charles Bickford is an exciting story of an officer who becomes a crook to clean out gangland, and it packs plenty of action and thrills. Added to this concluding show is Ten-O-Win with the largest jack pot it has ever boasted.

Tomorrow the regular Saturday triple program takes the screen. First, one of the greatest dramas and most exciting pictures ever to appear on the screen, "Barbary Coast" with Edw. G. Robinson, Joel McCrea and Miriam Hopkins. Second, Cary Grant, Lew Ayres and Katherine Hepburn in one of the season's smash hits, "Holiday", poor boy meets rich girl story that works up to a smash climax. Third, Wild Bill Hickok in "Savage Vengeance."

Kiddies matinee at 1:30 and Manager Sonntag announces that he is arranging some thrilling new surprises for the kiddies. And on Sunday night the big rich jack-potted Ten-O-Win will again take the spotlight.

Mrs. Raymond Hayden of Masonic Avenue, will be hostess to her sister, Miss Geraldine Ray of Hollywood, next week when Miss Ray will visit the Bay for the first time.

Cornell School News

Every Thursday, six grades, from the low fifth to the high seventh of Cornell School go to the auditorium to listen to a program, the name of which is the Standard School Broadcast.

The program is presented to the Schools by the Standard Oil Company of California and last Thursday, October 6, the program opened with Rondel, who is a little music sprite. He brought us to the forests to hear the nightingale. Some of the songs played were, "Last Night the Nightingale Woke Me," by Kejerulf, "Forest Murmurs," by Wagner. They were lovely songs and the pupils of Cornell School enjoyed them very much.

— Lorraine Celli

HIGH SEVENTH—The high seventh grade has organized a club called "Crows Nest." The motto is: "Sail the Sea of Success." Officers are: President, Teddy Blitz; Vice-President, Bill Magazin; Secretary, Audrey Forrest; Treasurer, Edward Castell. The chairmen are: Dail Smith, Betty Lieberback, Anita Dahl, and Shirley Forbes. They have had two plays from the program chairmen which were a success and they hope to have many more.

— Frances Cataline

HIGH SIXTH—Social Studies, subject in the high sixth grade is Egypt. The class is learning how big the Egyptians made their stone columns and buildings. Sometimes you may wonder why the Egyptians did not progress more than other countries. The reason is that the Egyptians spent more time caring for their dead while the other countries built buildings for the future.

The high sixth has organized a court and if any one in the room talks or causes a disturbance he has to appear before the court.

HIGH FOURTH—"A Day in an Indian Village" is the name of a play which will be given by the high fourth grade, Friday, October 21.

Pupils who will appear in the play are as follows: Carolyn Eckwall, Arden Samuels, Barbara Hayden, Keith Orland, George Blitz, Tom Just, Jim Flemming, Sherman Locke, Charles Neckel, Luella May, Lila Lee, Harold Overton, Donald Humphrey, Joseph Giroux, Bruce Bissett, Bill McConnell, Charles Mullin, Robert Irish, Donald Reed.

Lilly Bell York, Lola Diebell, Sylvia Shiman, Nancy Wiles, Mileta Noe, Marie Walker, Ardith Farnsworth, Jacqueline Neil, Everett Wiest, Phil Cook, Robert D'Arcy, Eleanor Can Gorder, Geraldine Calhoun, Barbara Allenby, Jacqueline Smythe, Barbara Hayden, Alice Daleh, Geraldine Hansen and Gloria Lindstrom. Stage crew: James Courtway, Bobby Caraway, Wayne Johansen.

MARIN SCHOOL NOTES

Sponsored by the University of California Institute of Child Welfare, Miss Frances Lee Burke is conducting a series of measurement tests at Marin School as part of a child psychology program started here last year.

Taking between 10 and 36 measurements, Miss Burke will tabulate the results to be entered in the Welfare Institute's charts for determining rate of growth, bone development in children. Among values of the tests, Miss Burke said, is their aid in setting standards for children's clothing and general patterning. The project is under the direction of Dr. Harold E. Jones of the University of California.

Including actual training in their study of natural science, the third grade classes of Marin School announced that fushia plants are being planted in the school basement. The classes are under the direction of Miss Brouchand, Mrs. R. Baldwin and Mrs. Burnham.

Heading attractions for next week, the Marin Kindergarten class will present a Hawaiian program Tuesday for children of first, second and third grades.

All scenery and stage material for the program is being constructed by children of the class, including out-rigger canoes, trees, and costumes. The program will include Hawaiian dances, a portrayal of Island life.

Among those who will be seen on the program are: Deane Pacquette, Jeannette Norton, Buriel Brady, Gordon Monroe, David Tognetti, Shawna Murphy, Carol Navolla, George Guppy and Gary Edwards.

Children of Marin schools were entertained during the past week at a puppet program presented by Scott's Marionettes, who gave the play, "The Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil."

Recreation Department

Over fifty archers from the archery clubs of Piedmont, Richmond, Berkeley, Alameda and Albany are expected to step up to the yard lines in an attempt to puncture the "gold" of the targets in the many events to be staged on the Albany Recreation Department Archery Range this Sunday morning when the local club stages its first Gold Medal Tournament.

In addition to the many archers expected to participate, Trueman Farnsworth, archery expert, is making preparations to accommodate a large number of spectators. A special area is being prepared for automobiles, so archery fans can watch the tourney from cars, while chairs will also be provided on the side lines.

Working with Farnsworth are James Larsson, Len Saxton, Charles Rogers and Dan Duggan, all members of the Federal Project, who have spent two weeks preparing the range and targets for the event. Eight targets will face the field of archers.

The Gold Medal Tournament this Sunday will be the first of four similar affairs. Another is planned for November, with the third scheduled for March and another in May of next year. Thirty six medals will be awarded the winners in the four meets.

At the end of the fourth tournament medals will be distributed to the top men and women archers. In order to win the gold, silver and bronze medals and bowmen will have to compete in all four events. Special awards have been made by the Recreation Department and will be distributed after each meet, in addition to the medals.

Events scheduled for Sunday's meet are the American Round (30 arrows each, at 60, 50 and 40 yards) for men, National Round (48 arrows at 60 yards and 24 at 50) for women, Columbia Round (24 arrows each at 50, 40 and 30 yards) for women, Clout Shoot (36 arrows at 100 yards) for men, Clout Shoot (36 arrows at 120 yards, at 50 foot target) for women and juniors, Junior American Round (30 arrows each at 50, 40, 30 yards) for boys under 16 years of age, Junior Columbia Round (24 arrows each at 40, 30 and 20 yards) for girls under 16, High School Round (30 arrows each at 50, 40

Cornell P.T.A. News

By MRS. OLIVER BLUM

The evening meeting of the Cornell Parent-Teacher Association on Thursday, October 6 proved to be a very successful get-together for fathers, mothers and teachers.

Charles Lyon, Fathers' Membership Chairman, asked the fathers to delve deeper into the work the organization is doing and he assured them would find it well worth it.

"The Safety of our School" was the subject of E. E. Esterly, ty Chairman, who presented a survey of the children crossing at Albany's most dangerous intersection, San Pablo and Solano Avenues. He found a police officer on duty at all times when children were crossing to and from school and was assured by the Chief of Police Lloyd Jester that an officer would be there except in the case of an emergency in another part of the city.

The principal speaker of the evening was Vaughn Seidel, Deputy County Superintendent of Schools, who gave a talk on the topic "How the Albany Schools Are Financed."

Seidel stated that the people of Albany have done a remarkable job in launching their building program and taking advantage of Federal money which will never be duplicated as "Albany." Seidel said, "has a peculiar situation in that we have unusually heavy child population that has not prevented us from the lowest per capita tax in the County. Our School District has earned praise for maintaining an exceptional high type of education and at the same time, we have more to show than any other city in the State for the amount of our outlay."

The Friendship Tea held for mothers of kindergarten children Cornell School last Wednesday afternoon was a wonderful affair. Mothers were welcomed by the principal William Woolworth, a Parent-Teacher President, Mrs. Magazin who pointed out the purposes of the Association, Coos Esterly, Room Mother, explained how the room makes the personal contact between the home and the school. Mr. Mer, Williams, Klick, Carpenter.

Disarming for Peace

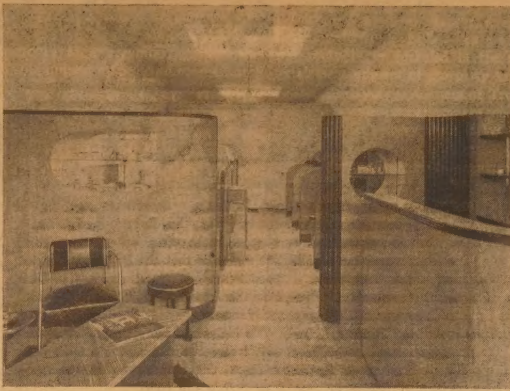

Europe's war fever has lessened—but not its armaments race. Even though Prime Minister Chamberlain brought home from Munich what he termed a peace pact, he shows little faith in it. Among his first words to Parliament, on his return, was the declaration that Britain's rearmament drive would continue unabated. He may have suspected that Hitler's pipe of peace was tamped with dynamite. But amid the unrelenting thunder of munitions plants is again heard the voice of the world's common people clamoring for peace, and pleas for world disarmament are cautiously voiced by officials in Washington. But with the course of events in the world's clouded trigger-action psychopaths, the likelihood of disarmament by anyone, anywhere, becomes increasingly remote. The United States proposed it in 1921-1922, and acted upon it. Other powers agreed, but only we tore up the battleships. Who believes there is more honor among nations today than then? Keep Posted on Imposts!

President Roosevelt announced a few days ago that he is planning legislation to junk the Interstate Commerce Commission with a new Department of Transportation. The possible demise of that commission in favor of a body with drastic powers over policy and practice on the landways and airways has already aroused concern. Whether or not a new agency, with a big stick, can banish traffic ailments on land and air, its scope would embrace only a part of the transportation problem, as the motorizing public knows. Mr. and Mrs. Motorists have been, and are still, waging a stiff fight against diversion of highway funds—lush pickings for spendthrift legislative budgets. Highway imposters yielded more than one billion dollars last year, of which commercial transport machines contributed over one-fourth, though comprising but a fraction of vehicle traffic. Motorists are right in demanding a full return on the innumerable levies they pay. "It would be as preposterous to tax sugar to build roads as to tax gasoline to run government!" states Loyal M. Graham, author of the first gasoline tax bill ever passed. America's motoring millions second the motion!

HORRORS! A HORROR STORY
Wars can breed atrocity and horror stories faster than a score of scribes turning out super-thrillers for the pulps. In Japan, "controlled" newspapers have been circulating rumors that orang-utans were fighting, check-by-jowl, with the Chinese forces! These wild apes, so the stories went, had been trained to handle machine guns by those horribly clever Chinese, adding insuperably to the troubles of the sons of the Rising Sun to pacify stubborn China. All right, it's your turn—you tell one.

School Children Write Essays on Community Chest

(The following are two of the many essays on the Community Chest turned in during the past week at Albany Schools.)

Community Chest raises money for a very definite use. These are to help the poor, give medical care to people who can't afford it, help the children whose parents have passed away or have broken up. These children are sent to a home in Sonoma County. Though it is not in our county, most of the children in the hospital are from Alameda County.

Community Chest is made up of twenty-two organizations such as the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Cubs, Y.M.C.A., Salvation Army and etc. Instead of contributing to each organization, the people give to the Community Chest, who gives a little to each.

My mother collects for the Community Chest. The people give her money cheerfully knowing they are helping the needy who are not so fortunate as themselves. I think we all should give a little and think as we are doing it, of the poor and needy who are getting help.

MARIAN MEYER,
Low Sixth, Marin School.

I think the Community Chest is doing a great service to the city. It helps the needy and the poor. Since the end of the World War its aid has helped hundreds of people. It should keep on helping the district. The main fields of service are as follows: (a) Child care services. (b) Health family and miscellaneous welfare services. (c) Character building (group work) services. (d) University students service. It has helped children in need of medical care.

The men who help carry out the affairs should be well rewarded. The Traveler's Aid is one of their many agencies. It helps the traveler who has lost his money, or helps the children if they have been separated from their parents. They have over twenty organizations helping different kinds of people in need.

JIM WATKINSON,
Low Sixth Grade, Marin School.

Rasputin To Meet Kaempfer

By ORTON RAPP

Ivan Rasputin, the bearded Russian, moved Bill (Purple Shadow) Longson, of Salt Lake City out of the local wrestling picture last week, and claims he'll do the same to Hans Kaempfer. Kaempfer, powerful German ace, faces Rasputin, in the two hour, two out of three fall main event, Friday, night at the Oakland auditorium.

SHOWED LONGSON

The "wildman" from Russia showed this in his recent match with Longson. It looks as if Rasputin really means business — title business.

While coast champion, the Russian added victory after victory to his win column. A leg injury placed him on the down grade for awhile, however. He fell a victim of Sandor Szabo at the local arena.

Immediately he disappeared from Oakland wrestling circles, making a barnstorm tour of the coast. Today Rasputin is again on the warpath, meeting all comers in order to get another crack at the throne.

Rasputin knows he's facing no soft touch in Kaempfer. "This guy Kaempfer has plenty on the ball," said Rasputin.

"He's powerful and knows the grappling game from A to Z. But, I'm certain, I'll come out the victor. I believe Kaempfer's sensational winning streak will come to an end."

WHAT A KILLER?

Shikuma puts his opponents to sleep in short order.
Rusty Westcott of Hollywood, takes on Nick Compofredo of Bostn, 30-minutes, one fall.

Tommy O'Toole, Ireland's contender for the world's title, meets Charlie Rainer of San Jose, 30-minutes, one fall.

Jimmy O'Conner of Chicago, clashes with Ray Malott of Arizona, in the thirty-minute, one fall opener.
Joe Gardenfield of San Francisco will referee all matches.

Public Debt Danger

The November ballot is bristling with menaces to the prosperity and well-being of California. Some are so grotesque, like the Paper Pension Plan and the Single Tax proposal, that they eclipse the menace of others.

In this jungle of preposterous legislation, the voter should not overlook the danger in Proposition No. 13 on the ballot, the Garrison Revenue Bond Act.

That act, if passed, would remove the precautionary two-thirds vote now required in all bond issues, and permit a bare majority vote to authorize bond issues for what may be called self-liquidation public works.

A bond is nothing less than a mortgage, a public bond is a mortgage on the taxpayer.

No person ever mortgages his property or snap judgment. He takes two thoughts at least on the subject before he commits himself.

The two-third vote required now to authorize bond issues is a means of giving the public a second thought.

There is always a certain percentage of voters who are ballot Yes-men; another fraction who are ballot No-men, whatever the issue. Between them are the voters who judge the merits of the case analytically, and decide what is best.

On proposals involving a mortgage on the taxpayers, that is, on bonds, that in-between class should be large.

"Revenue bonds" could be issued for any sort of enterprise which the promoters hoped would make money. If the project did not make money, enough to pay expenses and the bond interest and redemption fund, the taxpayers would be responsible.

If a project is meritorious it can win a two-thirds vote, if not the first time, then in a subsequent election.
